BP16For Official Use Only*Brief No. BPB16-XX.XIncident management in the Nauru RPC - transferees*

- Service providers in the RPC are responsible for the immediate response and management of all incidents involving transferees, including physical and sexual assaults.
- Incident data is defined by the Department's incident reporting framework. The data reflected within this brief is consistent with the framework. This data therefore may differ from data presented in other forums such as the Nauru Select Committee in 2015, which suggested more incidents.
- Since October 2015 refugees have resided in the RPC pending the construction of settlement accommodation. RPC service providers do not have any authority over refugees on Nauru, including those living at the RPC. As a result the NPF responds to incidents involving refugees at the RPC.

Management of incidents at the RPC and referral to the NPF

- Where the alleged victim consents, allegations of assault are reported to the NPF for investigation.
- In the event of an alleged assault at the RPC, including sexual assault and incidents involving children, the alleged victim is provided with medical treatment and mental health support by IHMS, and referred to the GoN Victim Support Service, as appropriate. The alleged victim's placement within the facility is reviewed for appropriateness.
- If the incident involves a child it is referred to the Broadspectrum Welfare Team and victims are monitored at the weekly Vulnerable Children Meeting. The matter is also referred to the GoN Victim Support Service.
- Where a staff member is alleged to be involved in an assault the allegation is referred to the relevant service provider and the NPF for investigation. A staff member may be stood down during investigation of the matter and terminated on substantiation of the allegation or impropriety.

Incident management in the Nauru Community - refugees

- For incidents involving refugees in the Nauruan community Connect Settlement Services (CSS), the settlement service provider, encourages the alleged victim to report the incident directly to the NPF and seek appropriate medical and mental health care from the Republic of Nauru Hospital or the Settlement Health Clinic. In some cases, the alleged victim may choose not to report the matter to the police.

under the Freedom of Information Act 1982

BP16For Official Use Only*Brief No. BPB16-XX.X

- The NPF does not provide updates regarding investigations involving refugees to the Department or CSS.

Safety and Security Capacity Building

- The Department has funded the deployment of five AFP officers to Nauru to support, mentor and train NPF officers in basic investigations, community policing and dealing with the investigation of child abuse and sexual assault claims reported to the NPF.

s. 33(a)(iii)

- The GoN has also recently established a Gender Violence and Child Protection Unit within the Home Affairs Ministry and a gender violence hotline. The Unit provides first response to an incident, and the Victim Support Service provides welfare, support and counselling services.

Key Points

Abusive/Aggressive Behaviour explanation

At 1 October 2015, the RPC Incident Categorisation Framework was reviewed and the category 'Abusive/Aggressive Behaviour' was removed. Incidents previously captured in that category are now represented between the following three categories:

- 'Antisocial Behaviour';
- 'Assault (non-sexual nature)'; and
- 'Assault (non-sexual nature) on MINOR (up to 18 years of age).

As 'Antisocial Behaviour' is a Category 1 incident, it is no longer a reportable incident. Behaviour of this nature only becomes a reportable incident if it escalates to the point of 'Assault (non-sexual nature)'.

Manus RPC

- The PNG Immigration and Citizenship Service Authority (ICSA) manages and administers operations at the Manus RPC.
- The immediate security and welfare response to all incidents within the Manus RPC is the responsibility of Broadspectrum (contracted garrison and welfare service provider).
- Where necessary, matters are referred by ICSA to the Royal PNG Constabulary (RPNGC) for investigation and action.

ELRTC

- PNG ICSA manages and administers operations at the ELRTC.
- Where appropriate, matters are referred by ICSA to the RPNGC for investigation and action.

Background

Manus RPC

Alternative accommodation options at the Manus RPC

- Manus RPC has alternative accommodation options available outside the general population in order to provide extra support to vulnerable transferees, as well as the management of individuals who present an unacceptable risk to the good order and management of the RPC.
 - The Managed Accommodation Area is only used to manage immediate risks, such as preventing the continuance of an offence or to prevent a transferee from causing injury or harm to themselves or others.

For Official Use Only

BP16For Official Use Only*Brief No. XX

- The Supported Accommodation Area is utilised for transferees who have been assessed as requiring high support and medical needs, but represent a low security risk.

Family reunification in Australia – separation due to medical transfer

- Family members accompanying treating patients are only permitted in exceptional cases.
- The Department maintains that transitory persons will not be permitted to settle in Australia and will be returned to Nauru at the conclusion of their medical treatment, or the purpose for their temporary transfer.
- The Department has received two cases involving adult family members separated between Nauru and Australia, as a direct result of one or more family members receiving medical treatment.
- In each case the families have been separated for approximately 16-18 months.
- The cases continue to attract interest from external scrutiny organisations. The Department has received numerous recommendations from medical professionals stating that the reunion of each family group will significantly improve the mental health of all family members.
- The Department continues to consider the temporary reunification of each family group in Australia. To date, information before the Department does not support the reunification of either family group in Australia, noting both are pending return to Nauru.

Cambodia Refugee Settlement Programme – Case Updates

Key Statistics

- At 31 March 2016, five Nauru determined refugees have been settled in Cambodia under the refugee settlement programme.
- Three refugees have subsequently repatriated to their home country. Under the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), voluntary repatriation to a refugee's country of origin is supported by the Cambodian Government.

Subject: Current events in Nauru and departmental response

Key Points

s. 33(a)(iii)

- In response to requests from the Government of Nauru (GoN) to support the management of the increased threat levels, additional health and welfare, settlement case management, security and infrastructure resources have (28 April) and are being deployed to Nauru (5 May).
 - An emergency medicine physician, intensive care unit (ICU) paramedic, ICU nurse, surgeon and anaesthetist
 - Light surgical team from Aspen Health

- Additional counsellors, mental health nurses, emergency department nurses, emergency doctor and paramedics.
- Additional security has been put in place at the Republic of Nauru Hospital in response to a GoN request and to ensure effective management of the hospital.
- The GoN has Nauru Police Force and Fire Department resources on standby. Additionally, Broadspectrum has water trucks and firefighting equipment on standby.
- Welfare and settlement case management service providers are engaging closely with transferees and refugees identified at risk to ensure appropriate safety and mitigation plans are in place. Service providers are reviewing opportunities to engage youth in the RPC in programmes and activities.
- The Department has deployed experienced senior staff to work with the GoN Child Protection unit to build capacity to manage child protection issues.
- All persons in attendance at the Nibok Settlement Site during the self-immolation of Mr s. 47F(1) have been offered counselling support.
