Operation Sovereign Borders

The Australian Government has tough border protection controls to protect its borders and combat people smuggling.

What is Operation Sovereign Borders?

Operation Sovereign Borders is the Australian Government's military-led border security initiative to stop the boats, prevent people from risking their lives at sea, and preserve the integrity of Australia's migration program.

What does this mean for those who travel to Australia by boat without a visa?

Any people smuggling boat attempting to enter Australian waters, or travel to New Zealand through Australian waters, will be detected, intercepted and safely removed.

It remains Australia's policy to safely turn back boats or send people to another country for processing and resettlement.

Processing and resettlement in Australia will never be an option.

If you get on a boat without a visa you will not end up in Australia.

I have heard that boats are still successfully arriving in Australia. Is this true?

No. Do not believe the lies of people smugglers. Only one boat arrived in Australia in 2014, and every person on board that vessel was transferred to the country of Nauru for processing.

Processing and resettlement in Australia will never be an option.

What changes have been made to resettlement from Indonesia?

The Australian Government has changed its rules for refugee resettlement from Indonesia.

If you travel to Indonesia to register with UNHCR you will not be considered for resettlement in Australia.

The rules apply to everyone. There are no exceptions.

What if I was already registered with UNHCR in Indonesia before 1 July 2014?

Australia will continue to resettle some refugees who registered with UNHCR in Indonesia before 1 July 2014.

However, there will not be as many places allocated—this means the waiting period in Indonesia to be resettled in Australia will be much longer.

I have heard that Australia only turns back boats to Indonesia. Is this true?

No. It does not matter which country people are from, which route they take, or which country they depart from, there are two outcomes for people who travel illegally by boat to Australia:

- they will be intercepted and safely removed from Australian waters; or
- they will be sent to another country for regional processing.

What if my relatives are already in Australia? Is it any different if my relatives already have a visa or are Australian citizens?

It does not make a difference if you already have family in Australia. The rules apply to everyone who tries to come to Australia illegally by boat.

The people smugglers told me that I would be eligible to settle in Australia.

Do not believe the lies of people smugglers. These criminals will steal your money and place your life and the lives of your family at risk - for nothing.

You risk losing everything, including your life and the lives of your family if you come to Australia by boat without a visa.

What will happen if illegal maritime arrivals make it to the Australian mainland without being intercepted?

Australia's tough border protection measures mean that boats will not make it to the mainland without being intercepted.

If people try to come to Australia illegally by boat, there is no way they will ever make Australia home. The way to Australia is closed.

Does the policy apply to women, children and unaccompanied minors?

Yes. The rules apply to everyone: families, children, unaccompanied children, educated and skilled - there are no exceptions.

Don't be a fool! Put your money to better use! No one who travels by boat without a visa will make it to Australia!

What about Vipula? Did you see the castle they built with the money he sent from there?

They don't accept anyone who arrives illegally by boat now!

He's just jealous

Let's see

Jealousy aside, Raja is right. Even the Schoolmaster said Australia won't let anyone in now... regardless of race!

Nonsense! I'm sure there's a way. Just serve me some curry.

Your race, background and reasons won't make a difference. The Australian Government will NOT accept illegal entry.

Did you hear that?

Yeah yeah...

Maybe Raja was right...

Here's the balance payment Sir! When do you think I can go?

Let's see

All set. Looks like everything will be fine!

A few days later at a regional processing centre on a small country in the Pacific.

Who knew this would happen? Looks like Raja and the schoolmaster were right...

A group of illegal immigrants were sent back to Sri Lanka from Australia...

Mum, are they talking about Dad?

All our hard-earned money in the water...

If only I had listened!

- Don't believe the lies of people smugglers and waste your hard earned money

Operation Sovereign Borders

A new Australian Government was elected on 7 September 2013, with Tony Abbott appointed Prime Minister. The new Government has introduced a tough new policy for managing illegal maritime arrivals by boat to Australia called Operation Sovereign Borders (OSB).

What is this tough new policy 'Operation Sovereign Borders'?

Operation Sovereign Borders is the Australian Government's new military-led border security initiative to stop the boats, to prevent people risking their lives at sea in the hands of criminals, and to preserve the integrity of Australia's immigration program.

How is the new policy different from the previous policy?

The agreed partnership with the Papua New Guinea (PNG) and Nauruan Governments remains active with illegal maritime arrivals being sent to PNG or Nauru for processing. The new policy introduces a rapid transfer process where asylum seekers are transferred to either PNG or Nauru within 48 hours of arrival in Australia. The new policy also includes the expansion of processing centres in both locations as well as the turning back of asylum seeker boats.

What are the arrangements between Australia, PNG and Nauru?

The agreement signed between Australia and PNG, and Australia and Nauru provides for all illegal maritime arrivals to be sent to either PNG or Nauru for processing and if found to be a refugee, settlement there.

People found not to be refugees will be returned to their home country or a country where they have a right of residence.

The New Rules

Australia is working with both PNG and Nauru to expand the Regional Processing Centres, as well as exploring locations for the construction of additional facilities. This is to allow for sufficient offshore processing capacity and to meet the 48 hour rapid transfer process.

Does the 48 hour transfer to PNG and Nauru apply to women and children?

Everyone who arrives unlawfully in Australia is subject to transfer to PNG and Nauru. Children and family groups are not exempt from transfer. Anyone who arrives in Australia by boat, without a visa, will not be settled there.

What about unaccompanied minors?

There are no exemptions to transfer to an offshore processing country. Unaccompanied minors who arrive unlawfully in Australia are subject to transfer to PNG or Nauru. Australian authorities are working closely with their PNG and Nauru counterparts to develop a framework of arrangements to cater for the needs of unaccompanied minors once they are transferred to a regional processing centre.

Operation Sovereign Borders

Will the boats be told to turn around?

The Government in Australia has changed and so have the rules. If you come to Australia by boat without a visa you will be intercepted. You can be turned back or you will be quickly transferred to the country of PNG or Nauru for processing. You will never be settled in Australia.

The people smugglers told me that I would be eligible to settle in Australia?

Don't be deceived by the lies of people smugglers. They are only after your money. You risk losing everything, including your life, if you come to Australia by boat without a visa.

What if relatives are already in Australia? Is it any different if the relatives already have a visa?

It will not make a difference if people (including children, families or unaccompanied minors) have family in Australia. Everyone who arrives will be transferred to PNG or Nauru within 48 hours of arrival.

What will happen if asylum seekers make it to the mainland? Will they still be liable to be transferred to PNG or Nauru under these arrangements?

No matter where an asylum seeker arrives in Australia by boat, they will be transferred to PNG or Nauru.

What will happen to those people found not to be refugees?

Those who are found not to be refugees will be returned to their home country or to a country where they have right of residence.

How many people can be transferred to PNG or Nauru under the new arrangements?

There is no maximum number that can be transferred. Facilities in both countries are continually being expanded. There is no limit on the numbers that may be transferred or settled in PNG or Nauru under the new arrangement.

How do I obtain permanent residency in Australia or another country?

There is a correct process to follow to register a claim with the United Nations High Commission for Refugees (UNHCR) or International Organization for Migration (IOM).

Operation Sovereign Borders

The Australian Government is implementing its toughest border protection measures ever to manage illegal maritime arrivals and combat people smuggling.

What is Operation Sovereign Borders?

Operation Sovereign Borders is the Australian Government's military-led border security initiative to stop the boats, prevent people from risking their lives at sea, and preserve the integrity of Australia's immigration program.

What does this mean for those who travel to Australia by boat without a visa?

If you come to Australia illegally by boat, there is no way you will ever make Australia home.

Anyone seeking to illegally enter Australia by boat will be intercepted and safely removed from Australian waters (including children, families or unaccompanied minors).

The rules apply to everyone: families, children, unaccompanied children, educated and skilled. There are no exceptions

You will be transferred within 48 hours to an offshore processing centre in Papua New Guinea or Nauru. Your claims will be assessed by the Government of Papua New Guinea or the Government of Nauru.

If you are found not to be a refugee, you will be returned to your home country or a country where you have a right of residence.

Even if you are found to be a refugee, you will not be resettled in Australia.

What if my relatives are already in Australia? Is it any different if my relatives already have a visa or are Australian citizens?

It does not make a difference if you already have family in Australia. The rules apply to everyone who comes to Australia illegally by boat.

Will boats be turned around?

It is the Australian Government policy and practice to intercept any vessel that is seeking to illegally enter Australia and safely remove it beyond Australian waters.

The people smugglers have told me they use new and different routes to Australia to avoid interception. I have been guaranteed arrival.

The people smuggler's guarantee is a lie. You will not make it to Australia no matter which way you come.

The people smugglers told me that I would be eligible to settle in Australia.

Do not believe the lies of people smugglers. These criminals will steal your money and place your life and the lives of your family at risk - for nothing.

You or your family will not be permanently resettled in Australia.

You risk losing everything, including your life and the lives of your family if you come to Australia by boat without a visa.

Operation Sovereign Borders

What will happen if asylum seekers make it to the Australian mainland without being intercepted?

Australia's tough border security measures mean that boats will not make it to the mainland without being intercepted.

No matter where asylum seekers arrive in Australia by boat, they will be transferred within 48 hours to an offshore processing centre in the country of Papua New Guinea or the country of Nauru.

If you come to Australia illegally by boat, there is no way you will ever make Australia home.

What are the arrangements between Australia, Papua New Guinea and Nauru?

Australia has agreements with the country of Papua New Guinea and the country of Nauru for the processing of all illegal maritime arrivals.

All illegal maritime arrivals - be they families, children, unaccompanied children, educated and skilled - have been transferred within 48 hours to offshore processing centres in the country of Papua New Guinea or the country of Nauru.

The rules apply to everyone: there are no exceptions.

Facilities in both locations are being expanded to accommodate illegal maritime arrivals while their protection claims are being assessed by the Government of Papua New Guinea or the Government of Nauru.

Does the 48 hour transfer to PNG and Nauru apply to women and children?

Everyone who arrives unlawfully in Australia will be transferred to Papua New Guinea or Nauru. Children and family groups are not exempt from transfer.

What about unaccompanied minors?

There are no exemptions to transfer to an offshore processing country.

Unaccompanied minors who have arrived unlawfully in Australia have been transferred to offshore processing countries. This will continue to be the case.

How many people can be transferred to Papua New Guinea or Nauru under the new arrangements?

There is no maximum number that can be transferred.

Facilities in both countries are continually being expanded. There is no limit on the numbers that may be transferred to PNG or Nauru under the new arrangement.
