

Online & Additional Services

Australia Travel Declaration

s. 22(1)(a)(ii)

s. 22(1)(a)(ii)

Requirements and Eligibility

Frequently asked questions

Questions	Response
-----------	----------

s. 22(1)(a)(ii)

Is an ATD mandatory?	Completion of an ATD is not mandatory. However, we strongly recommend completion of the ATD. Failure to complete one may cause delays at check in and result in further delays on arrival in Australia.  Travellers are subject to meeting the specific airline requirements for boarding their flight.
----------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

s. 22(1)(a)(ii)