Notes

- As data is drawn from a dynamic system environment, the information is correct at the time of clearance and figures may differ slightly from previous or future reporting;
- Reference to 'application' means application lodged by primary visa applicants only;
- Processing times are calculated on application decisions only (granted and refused applications);
- Median processing times are used instead of average as it is a more reliable source of measure, averages can be unduly impacted by outlying data;
- What is a percentile? A percentile is a measure used in statistics indicating the value below which a given percentage of observations in a group of observations falls. For instance, processing times as at the 50th percentile means that 50 per cent of applications finalised globally were finalised in the stated time or earlier;
- Processing times for some processing offices are not available where the number of visa decisions is too few in a particular month to provide a reliable indicator of time.

Notes

- As data is drawn from a dynamic system environment, the information is correct at the time of clearance and figures may differ slightly from previous or future reporting;
- Applications recorded as 'on-hand' at a specific processing office are not indicative of the citizenship of the applicant;
- Applications recorded in the system as on-hand at a specific processing office may be processed at any location under global caseload management. Where cases have been transferred between processing offices, there may be delay in the new processing location being reflected in departmental reporting systems;
- On-hand figures for Partner (Provisional) (Subclass 309) visas include both eligible and pending eligibility;
- To protect the privacy of applicants, figures are masked where totals for the specified period are less than 5;
- On-hand figures are a point in time data assessment. That is, each of the figures in table four have been pulled from historical data which related to on-hand applications at the point in time which the data was requested for. As such, accounting for global caseload management and delays in processing locations being reflected in departmental reporting systems, discrepancies may be identified with the above data set. The information is correct at the time of clearance, and figures may differ slightly from previous or future reporting.
