2. This information is provided by the Department of Home Affairs and was extracted from departmental systems. As data has been drawn from a dynamic system environment, the information is correct at the time of extraction and figures may differ slightly from previous or future reporting.
3. Under the Migration Act, each applicant has their own visa application and as such, each application represents a single applicant. Often, only a single member of a family unit is invited to attend an interview. The number of applications finalised with no interview scheduled recorded includes family members of those claimants who were invited to attend an interview.
