Caveats:

- This information provided by the Department of Home Affairs was extracted from Department systems as at 20th June 2025. As data has been drawn from a dynamic system environment, and has been manually reviewed for minor data integrity errors to remove duplicate travel movements by the same individual. Comparisons to any data obtained from other systems or reports with any variation to filters applied should expect a variation in results and figures may differ slightly from previous or future reporting.*
- Travellers with multiple movements in one direction in this travel period have only been counted as one arrival or one departure in the requested time period (unique individuals).*
- Visa types have been categorised broadly to simplify the results as there are many different visa types used by Israeli travellers, and approximately half of the visa type results contain a number less than 5 which would require masking of the data (<5) as per Departmental policy.*
- It is the responsibility of the area releasing the data to ensure the appropriate authorisation to release the information, as per the ABF Act 2015, or any other legislation exists and that the release is in accordance with the ABF Act, Australian Privacy Principles or any other relevant legislation.*
