Hi

I respectfully disagree with the concept of this bill. It is rushed, poorly worded and lacks understanding of key topics that it's designed to allegedly help. This will not solve the problems it's designed to fix and it will only effect law-biding citizens.

Similar to previous tech-related bills, this only opens the door for use that it wasn't originally designed for. Or worse, abuse by those in power for greater surveillance of law-biding Australians.

This is a free society with a strong history of due process. Providing a key to a backdoor method of privacy invasion is not ethical nor is it right and the Government needs to ensure that our rights as citizens are kept.

Kind regards

Glen Rosie
