To the Minister, the Honorable Peter Dutton MP

Considering the turmoil that the current government is in at the moment, I DO NOT give my consent to access my information unless there is absolute judicial oversight built into this Bill.

The trust given to our "elected representatives" has been well and truly shown to be not trust worthy.

The Minister is hereby warned that accessing my information without my consent is a breach of my civil rights as an Australian citizen. This Bill is unnecessary and an overreach of the Governments power and must be withdrawn.

Stephen Morrow
