Dear Department of home affairs,

As a citizen of Australia I believe the Assistance and Access Bill 2018 is a massive breach of our civil liberties and privacies and would like your bill to be amended so that in order for any of this information to be used or even entered into a court it must be deemed useful or important by a judicial court. Also the clause you've added pertaining to jailing whistleblowers is incredibly inhumane. You are removing the two bodies who exist to ensure your government answers to the morality and civility of the people.

This bill you proposed is oppression and requires a full review.

Sincerely,

Thomas Ignacz
